

Details of Removing the Existing Awnings Arms

With reference to my email with Kirsty regarding additional details as to how the existing metal arms will be removed and building made good.

The Victorian awning arms have currently been installed onto wooden blocks to allow them to bypass the cornice on the mullions once the arms and wooden blocks are removed.

The decorator will fill the holes with a suitable exterior filler and then sand where required to make the exterior smooth. Once this has been done to satisfaction then the exterior will be completely redecorated as per the planning application.

As a result, the shop front would return back to the original look and it would appear that the Victorian awnings had never been installed.

In terms of the paint colour, this has not been picked yet but the colours will tie in with the new awnings. The colour scheme we will be going for will be grey and a slate blue colour, in keeping with the buildings surroundings.
